Lawrence Man Killed In Tractor Accident

CRASHES INJURE 14

Friday was a hazardous day on area roads as one man was killed in Van Buren county and 14 persons were injured in Berrien county as the result of eight traffic accidents.

Among the vehicles involved in the accidents were a farm tractor, a train, a 1929 Model A Ford and a milk truck.

Franklin Wirges, 41, of 505 St. Joe street, Lawrence, was killed yesterday when he was crushed by a farm tractor which rolled on him.

The death occurred on County Road 365 at the south village limits of Lawrence about 3:45 p.m. and was classified as a traffic fatality. Wirges' death brings to 28 the number of people killed on Van Buren county roads so far this year.

Deputies said Wirges was driving a fork lift farm tractor owned by the Burnette Farms Packing company along the road when he apparently lost control and skidded off the pavement. The vehicle rolled into a 10 foot ditch, pinning the victim beneath one of the large wheels.

Dr. Arthur Parks, medical examiner, said Wirges died of a crushed skull, according to police.

The body was taken to the Sisson funeral home pending funeral arrangements by relatives from out of state.

Those who were seriously injured were Michelle Fellers, 15, of LaGrange, Ill., and Linnie Jackson, 10, of Coloma. A New Buffalo man escaped serious injury when his car was struck by a train.

Michelle Fellers was one of five teenagers hurt in a two-car collision at 9:45 p.m. Friday on Red Arrow Highway near the entrance to Warren Dunes State Park.

'MODEL A' FORD

New Buffalo state police said a 1929 model A Ford, driven by David Cylmer, 16, of 71st street,

Indianapolis, Ind., had just pulled out of a private driveway across from the park and was headed south at about 15 to 20 m.p.h. when it was struck from the rear by a car driven by Kathleen King, 17, of Bridgman.

Troopers said four teenagers in the Model A were thrown from the vehicle by the impact of the crash. Miss King was pinned briefly in her car.

All five were taken to Memorial hospital in St. Joseph and the Fellers girl was transferred almost immediately to Memorial hospital in South Bend, Ind., with severe head injuries. She was listed in fair condition this morning at the South Bend hospital.

Miss King suffered a broken left arm, facial and head lacerations and chest injuries. The other passengers in the Model A and the driver received numerous lacerations, abrasions and bruises. Passengers were Clyde Lieberman, 17, of Indianapolis and Denise Bucher, 15, of LaGrange.

The accident is still under investigation.

Trooper Gets Broken Nose Arresting Man

SOUTH HAVEN — A rural Bangor man was charged with resisting arrest last night after a South Haven state trooper was kicked in the face when he helped arrest a suspect on a bad check warrant. The trooper sustained a broken nose and laceration.

Conrad Moenich, 25, of Route 2, Bangor, was turned over to Bangor city police who had secured a warrant for his arrest on charges of uttering and publishing worthless checks.

He was lodged in Van Buren county jail at Paw Paw. Prosecutor Donald Goodwillie, Jr., said he would authorize a warrant charging Moenich with resisting arrest.

Troopers Jerry Clark and George Lang said they were asked by Moenich on the checks warrant. After an anonymous telephone caller told police Moenich was at church at Chicora five miles east of Pullman, the troopers went to the church and found the suspect sitting in a car with a girl.

After the suspect was placed in the back seat of the patrol car, police said he kicked Clark in the face as the trooper got into the rear seat with him. He was subdued and taken to Bangor police station.

The two troopers then drove to South Haven Community hospital where Clark was treated for a fracture and laceration of the nose.

Woman Will Be Charged In Fatality

The Berrien county sheriff department said today that Berrien Prosecutor John Hammond has authorized a warrant charging Mrs. Melvin (Ouida) Kuhens, 25, of route 2, Berrien Springs, with negligent homicide.

The charge is in connection with the death of a migrant worker known only as "Statesman." He was killed while walking along the edge of the pavement at dawn yesterday, about three miles south of Scottsdale on US 31-33.

Deputy Douglas A. Tiefenbach said the migrant worker was struck as Mrs. Kuhens was attempting to pass another car. The body was struck by two cars, maybe more, Tiefenbach said.

Deputies are still attempting to identify the victim through fingerprints.

Dubcek Joins In Parley

Czech, Soviet Agreement
May Be Near

MOSCOW (AP) — Talks between Czechoslovak and Soviet leaders apparently ran beyond schedule today, suggesting a snag even while broadcasts from Czechoslovakia reported its leaders had won significant concessions.

A radio station identifying itself as Czechoslovakia One reported President Ludvik Svoboda had concluded "an honorable agreement" with the Russians. It offered no details.

A broadcast on the wavelength of the clandestine Radio Prague said Alexander Dubcek, the Czechoslovak Communist party chief whose liberalization program prompted the Soviet bloc invasion Tuesday night, "is to resume his functions in the next few days."

Dubcek and Premier Oldrich Cernik, both of whom had been restricted when Russian troops occupied Prague, were reported to have joined Svoboda's delegation for the second round of talks today.

Both the free radio in Czechoslovakia and reliable Communist sources in Moscow reported the appearance of Dubcek, the popular Communist party leader, and Premier Oldrich Cernik.

There had been speculation about their fate since they were arrested soon after Soviet bloc troops invaded Czechoslovakia Tuesday night to crush the liberalization drive. The reports were sure to boost the morale of Czechoslovaks. Two days ago, Dubcek had been rumored killed.

The talks in Moscow opened Friday with President Ludvik Svoboda at the head of an eight-man Czechoslovak delegation. There have been signs he

$770,000 Suit Filed Over 'Pill'

Woman Claims
Eye Damage

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit-area woman has sued a birth control pill maker, a doctor and a druggist for $770,000, charging use of the pills caused serious damage to her eyes.

Mildred Dobbs and her husband, Herbert, of suburban Redford Township filed the suit Thursday in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Named as defendants were the Syntex Corp., of the Republic of Panama, Dr. Donald V. Hobbs of Detroit and druggist Fred L. Cook of Detroit.

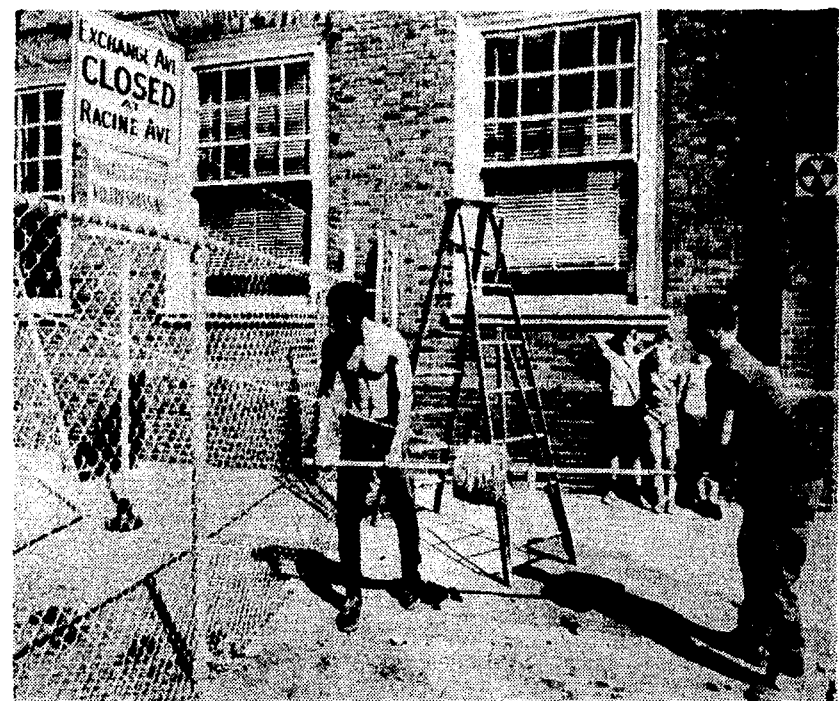

The suit asserts that use of Syntex birth control pills caused nearly total blindness in Mrs. Dobbs' left eye and some damage in her right eye.

In the suit, the 42-year-old mother of three says that she used the pill from August 1966 until March 1967 when she awoke with near blindness in her left eye and swelling in her legs and abdomen. She said the eye injuries have been diagnosed as permanent.

The Dobbs are seeking $450,000 from Syntex Corp., $170,000 from Dr. Hobbs, who was said to have prescribed the pill, and $150,000 from Cook, who she said filled the prescription.

The suit describes the pill as containing estrogen and progestogen hormones.

Nixon Calling Shots For Michigan GOP

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Gov. George Romney was named chairman of the 1968 Republican campaign committee Friday by party leaders attending the annual fall state GOP convention.

Romney will direct the efforts and name key personnel to conduct the upcoming presidential and lesser campaigns.

Romney said the action was the "best way to develop an all-out unified effort in Michigan."

He immediately named Lt. Gov. William Milliken and Senate majority leader Emil Lockwood as vice chairman.

The election apparently represents the wishes of GOP presidential nominee Richard Nixon who said Monday in Lansing that Romney had agreed to direct campaign efforts in Michigan. Nixon had said his campaign would include party members who supported his candidacy during the presidential primary as well as those who supported New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Milliken directed the Rockefeller effort in Michigan before the Republican National Convention selected Nixon as the party's nominee earlier this month. Lockwood was chairman of the Michigan Nixon for President committee.

Romney said party leaders decided that the adopted plan represented the best of three possible methods of conducting the state campaign. The methods cited by the governor were to establish an "overall campaign committee," to conduct the campaign through the regular party structure and to name a chairman.

Romney said his duties included establishment of an "overall campaign committee that will coordinate our campaigns in Michigan this year and to select key people to direct the day-to-day activity of the campaign."

The decision to name Romney as chairman, the governor said, was made by county and district chairmen, legislative and congressional leaders, and members of the state central finance committee.

Others named to the campaign committee include State Chairman Elly Peterson, National Committeeman John Martin, National Committeewoman Ella Koeze and the GOP vice chairman and state finance chairman.

Romney added that "there was no dissent" in the hour-long meeting to formulate the campaign plan.

"We had a very united viewpoint," the governor said.

He added that Nixon would have to attract Democratic and independent votes to carry the state in November.

"I think we can win Democratic votes," he said. "We expect to have Nixon in the state a great deal."

Furthermore, the governor said, the invasion of Czechoslovakia by Russia and Warsaw Pact troops enhanced the position of the Republican candidate because he has not adopted a "peace at any price position" on the Vietnam war.

Heward Quitting Sheriff's Race

Withdraws As Write-In
On GOP Ticket

Joe W. Heward, Berrien county undersheriff, said today he is withdrawing as a write-in candidate for sheriff on the Republican ballot in the Nov. 6 election.

Heward got out of the race 11 days after he announced as a write-in candidate sheriff following the defeat of Sheriff Henry Griesse by Forrest "Nick" Jewell in the primary.

Heward's withdrawal statement reads:

"Having had the benefit of several days of inquiry and consultation since the primary and thus being able to have made a thorough and detailed study and evaluation of the current situation, it is my decision to withdraw as a write-in candidate for sheriff on the Republican banner in the Nov. 5 general election.

"In humble appreciation and acknowledgement of the spontaneous support of hundreds of citizens and many organizations throughout Berrien county, I have found great strength and encouragement. However in taking a long, hard, objective, and realistic look; the magnitude of the task of informing voters on the mechanics of the write-in process, presents many problems and confrontations for so short a time remaining.

"Therefore in the interests of party harmony I will conclude this most interesting and rewarding experience. However I will long continue to observe future developments in the next four years with concern for preserving the strength and knowledge gained.

"I would ask that no more contributions be made. Once minimal expenses have been satisfied the balance will be returned to donors.

Thousands Of Police, Troops Set

LBJ May Be Put Up For Nomination

From Associated Press

With the prospects of disturbances hanging like a dark cloud over Chicago, the tightest security of any political convention went into effect today.

Some 11,500 policemen, 5,553 National Guardsmen and 7,500 federal troops are poised for action if they should be needed. In addition, 2,000 Secret Service and FBI agents will be on duty.

Tension has been building for months with reported plots to assassinate presidential candidates, with various Vietnam peace groups and other planning marches and sit-ins and with some Negro militants reportedly plotting to disrupt the convention.

Meanwhile, a half-hearted move to put President Johnson's name up for renomination was reported with the Democratic convention just two days away.

SCRAP UNIT RULE

In other developments, the rules committee voted to abolish the controversial unit rule, being used by some state delegations.

The credentials committee moved to unseat Alabama delegates who work for third-party candidate George Wallace by requiring a loyalty oath.

Critics of the Vietnam War have agreed on a plank calling for early peace and promised to fight for its adoption at the Democratic convention. They pledged an appeal to the convention itself — as expected — they are outvoted in the official platform committee. Such a fight could delay the presidential and vice presidential nominations next week.

Southern favorite sons and large uncommitted Northern blocs hold the key to whether Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey can win the Democratic presidential nomination on the first ballot, the latest Associated Press poll shows. The poll gave Humphrey a solid first ballot strength of 849 votes — compared with 1,312 needed to win the nomination. Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota has 475, while Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota has 35. Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, the fourth declared candidate, has none, pending the seating and selection of the disputed delegation from his home state.

Some 230 Army support and supply men have arrived in the Chicago area as an advance contingent of federal troops poised for possible movement into the city during the Democratic National Convention.

The advance troops arrived Friday, most of them from Ft. Riley, Kan. They are to make preparations for 7,500 soldiers at Ft. Hood, Tex., who are on standby to be airlifted to Chicago if major disturbances erupt during next week's convention.

Illinois National Guardsmen also began reporting to armories throughout the city. The 5,553-man contingent, activated by Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro at the request of Mayor Richard J. Daley, will remain on standby duty and be deployed only if

Pig For President

Depending on what sobering influence the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia may exert, it's conceivable that Ringling Brothers' aged slogan, "the greatest show on earth," will come off at Chicago starting tomorrow.

The main tent is the International Amphitheatre where the Democratic national convention's managers hope to stage a concise, fast moving nominating process for President and Vice President.

All the candidates have been told that speech making on their behalf is to be short and snappy; and the business side of each session is to be started and finished within TV prime viewing time.

A number of reasons account for this departure from past practice.

One is to show the country that the Democrats are an action party, responsive to current public opinion that political conventions, if not to be abolished, should at a minimum be divested of hoopla and circus atmosphere. This is a slap at the GOP whose Miami gathering of two weeks ago tried to boil down its proceedings. The Democratic stage managers are determined to go them one better.

The other thought behind this acceleration is the desire of the Democratic establishment to put the show on the road quickly and firmly for Humphrey.

Mayor Daley, the official host, and John T. Bailey, the national chairman, proclaim neutrality and espousal of the "open convention" theme, but realists of that stripe figure it will be a battle to sell Humphrey this year, much less risk a fight in which a McCarthy or a McGovern would be the standard bearer.

Realism dictates Humphrey or a compromise in the unlikely event of a deadlock if the Democrats are to avoid going into the fall campaign as repudiating LBJ.

The number of favorite sons already shedding that mantle and shifting openly into Humphrey's camp shows the Daley-Bailey machine possesses real clout.

There is the lingering doubt, particularly in Humphrey's mind, that this efficiency is not put together for his benefit at all, that Richard J. and John T. are greasing the skids to dump him and draft LBJ.

Hubert is not alone in that uneasiness. Many Republicans and independents are still betting that way, and the Czech crisis

1,091 Handouts

A Delaware Congressman, Rep. William V. Roth Jr., has been trying to untangle the maze of domestic federal aid projects on which $20 billion of taxpayers' money is spent annually.

Rep. Roth came up with 1,091 domestic federal aid projects, and uncovered the disheartening fact that "one university sets aside a storage room half as large as his Washington office to keep material relating to government assistance programs."

He learned that 21 scholarship programs on the federal level are handled by 14 different agencies; and so on and on until the hapless taxpayer is ready to conclude that everything and everybody except himself is on the receiving end of government largesse.

Why is this so in a time of national prosperity? These are not the depression years of the early '30s. Why does the government constantly yield to demands for more giveaways of one kind and another?

has dropped the odds on Humphrey.

Just how an unpopular President and a ramshackle Administration could suddenly be recast into heroes because of the Russian crunch is hard to see; but such thinking does highlight the charged atmosphere hovering about the Windy City.

An efficient convention has another compulsion which has not been present in the past.

All manner of New Leftists and dissidents are converging upon Chicago threatening to turn things upside down.

Militant Negro groups, anti-Viet Nam followers, and polyglot liberals are plotting to embarrass the Amphitheatre deliberations without regard to the consequences to themselves or bystanders; and if they should crack the security wall which Daley has summoned to duty, the Amphitheatre would have a built in bulldozer at work.

The other threat is that these hotheads might disdain the convention site to pull a caper elsewhere in the city.

Adding to the difficulty around the Amphitheatre is the transportation problem.

Unless Daley can force a settlement in the cab strike, those having legitimate business at the convention may be in trouble.

As if these uncertainties are not sufficient unto themselves, Daley's men has another collection of nitwits to watch.

The Youth International Party (the Yippies) intend to burlesque the convention.

A Yippee, as we understand it, is a Hippie with political inclinations.

There is also a Flippy, or in any event His Honor, the Mayor, has indicated there is.

None of the young people on our staff reasonably close to the "now generation" could tell us what a Flippy is. One suggested possibly it is a girl friend of a Yippee.

Anyway, the Yippies and maybe the shadowy Flippies hope to stick a few pins into the Democratic balloon.

Their mock convention calls for several interesting displays.

One is the nomination of Pig, a year-old, gray, girl piggy for President.

The Rev. Jonathan Tuttle, a United Church of Christ preacher in Chicago, explains the symbolism:

"Political platforms and speeches are garbage and who knows more about that than a pig?"

Further, if Pig should be elected and then got out of line, the Yippies could eat her.

There is supposed to be a beauty contest in which the girls will be representing astrological symbols rather than states; a swimming party with bathing suits optional; a birth control pill hunt; and a bonfire of underwear and money.

The bonfire is to show how people fence themselves in with artificialities.

Somewhat uncertain as yet is the idea of a demonstration march on the convention. Its female contingent would be bare-breasted.

At the latest press conference the Yippy managers indicated they have scrapped this idea in favor of informal nudist gatherings all around town.

They got nowhere with Daley in applying for a permit to bed down at night in Chicago's lakefront parks.

We don't allow our own people to do that," said the Mayor.

This seemingly is no great setback. The Yippy leaders are advising prospective "conventioners" they can find plenty of flopping space in ordinary housing units.

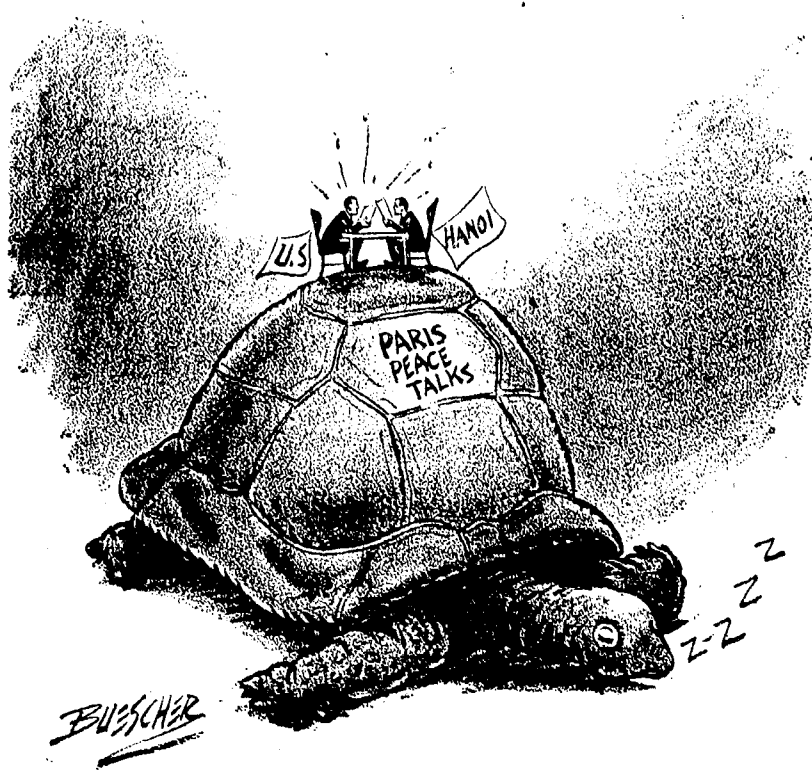

Only in Chicago, probably, could such a conglomeration of barnacles attach themselves to an American ritual, and if only half of it develops, the Windy City will be the jumpiest place on the globe.

The latest reports have it that Humphrey, despite looking over his shoulder at LBJ, feels reasonably confident about a first ballot nomination and is bending every effort on the harmony pitch.

The Democrats have a well deserved reputation for chewing one another before the nominations and then moving like a phalanx against the Republicans.

If HHH can repeat the formula this time, he will merit the Miraculous Worker badge.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — The threat of another big Viet Cong offensive against the cities of South Vietnam has captured the close attention of government officials and political analysts alike. Even President Johnson has commented on the manpower and material buildup.

To those whose thinking is politically oriented, such an offensive is interpreted as being designed to influence the Democratic National Convention, the campaign, and possibly the elections in the United States. Their reasoning is that alarming battle headlines could influence the emphasis potential candidates place on getting out of Vietnam, could influence the stand the Democratic Party takes in its platform, and, depending upon the degree of public distress over the war at election time, could materially

Hundreds of RAF block-buster raiders smashed at Berlin before dawn today in a record-breaking "saturation" attack in which 58 bombers were listed as missing and the scope of the assault indicated that the long-expected knockout attempt against the German capital had begun. London estimates said 2,000 long tons (2,240 U.S. tons) of explosives were hurled down upon German's first city.

The RAF suffered its heaviest loss in any one night of the war, but the British air ministry reflected satisfaction with the results of that it described as a "highly concentrated" blow by RAF plane "in very great strength." The raid was to have been twice as heavy as any ever made on any capital.

DR. COLEMAN

.. And Speaking Of Your Health

KERATITIS is an infection or inflammation of the cornea or the clear transparent covering of the eyeball. There are perhaps twenty different types of keratitis, some of which are simple and easily treated while others plague both the patient and the doctor.

Dr. Herbert E. Kaufman, Professor and Director of the eye department of the University of Florida College of Medicine, has developed a technique which he believes is exceedingly valuable for the treatment of Simplex with clusters of tiny blisters on the eye. This contribution, itself, would bring Dr. Kaufman and his staff the everlasting gratitude of doctors and their patients who suffer with this condition.

The new procedure for keratitis is performed by gently scraping the outer layer of the cornea where the infection is most active. Immediately afterwards, a plastic contact lens is glued to the cornea. In very carefully chosen cases, Dr. Kaufman has been able to restore some sight in a number of patients who previously had been blind.

Dr. Kaufman, working with Dr. Antonio R. Gasset, one of his students, feels that the technique promises to be simple enough to be performed in a doctor's office. This remarkable concept was presented at a symposium celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital in New York City in June, 1968.

A large group of eye surgeons were exceedingly impressed by the possibility of this new procedure and by the modesty with which it was presented. The idea is valid and now needs a long period of detailed investigation before it can be used regularly and with complete safety. As of now, this experimental method holds great promise for the restoration of some sight to people blinded by severe forms of keratitis. Patients and surgeons will await the complete confirmation of this brilliant contribution to medicine.

There is nothing hopeful in the statistics which show that fifty thousand lives are unnecessarily snuffed out each year by automobile accidents, many of which are avoidable. Two million injuries on the highways and city streets are dreadful evidence of a constant "war" that is being waged by humans against humans. Not bombs, but automobiles are the destroyers.

More than half of these injuries are directly attributed to drunken driving and that does not mean out-right drunkenness. Rather does it mean mild social drinking.

It is an accepted fact that one or more drinks immediately decreases fast reflex activity. This has been emphasized by those who have intensively investigated automobile and airplane accidents. Most of the airplane crashes in light, private planes have been traced to social drinking by the pilot. The concept that gasoline and alcohol do not mix must be emphasized, if there is to be greater hope that long holiday weekends will not be followed by family catastrophes. A life saved by preventive automobile safety is as important as a life saved by a heart transplant.

Opening lead—queen of spades.

The outcome of most hands depends largely on how the defenders' cards are divided, and declarer's chief problem is to guess how the unseen cards are distributed and adjust his play accordingly. In doing so, he naturally chooses the course of play that offers him the best chance of success.

Here is a typical case. South is in six notrump, having jumped to two notrump (showing 13 to 15 points), which North, with 20 points, raises to six. West leads the queen of spades.

A count of winners reveals that South has eleven sure tricks. He has two practical ways of acquiring a twelfth trick. One is to find the diamonds divided 3-3, in which case his fourth diamond becomes a trick; the other is to find the hearts divided 3-3, in which case he can establish a twelfth trick by giving up a heart.

The problem of which suit to play first is highly important. For example, if South starts by cashing three diamonds to see whether the suit is favorably divided, he goes down, however, this isn't the proper approach to the play. The correct suit to attack first is hearts.

After winning the spade lead with the ace, the next play should be a low heart from both hands. Assume East wins the trick and returns a spade.

South wins with the king and cashes the A-K of hearts to see how he stands. When the suit proves to be divided 3-3, his worries are over and he makes the rest of the tricks.

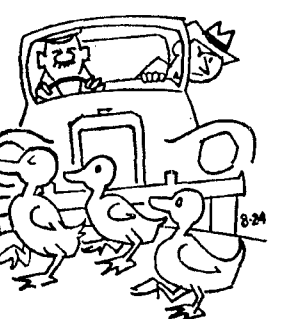

But if it develops that the hearts are not favorably distributed, South still has a 3-3 diamond break (and possibly a squeeze) in reserve.

The point is that by leading hearts first, South gets a chance to test his luck in both suits without risk, but if he starts with diamonds first, he can no longer take advantage of a 3-3 diamond break even if that division exists.

The driver of the tourist's car slowed down almost to a standstill. "Just don't sit there," grumbled the tourist. "Blow you horn, man!" The driver turned back to him and explained patiently, "Sir those ducks are walking just as fast as they can!"

There's an estimable young man in a school for male nurses in Texas who bears a name that for one reason and another attracts considerable attention. The name, honest to goodness, is President Johnson. President, just turned 22, explains that he was named after his great grandfather. Every time he identifies himself as "President Johnson" some smart pants retorts, "O yeah? And I'm Charles de Gaulle" (or sometimes "Richard Nixon") but our hero refuses to change his name. "I've been President Johnson a lot longer than President Johnson has been President Johnson," he points out. "Let him change HIS name!"

Body Of Woman Is Recovered

BH Resident
Jumped Off
Boat In River

A body believed to be that of Mrs. Thelma (Jackie) Joy Lewis, 42, was recovered from the St. Joseph river shortly after 10 a.m. today.

The body was found near Channy's wharf and near the spot where Mrs. Lewis was reported to have jumped off a boat after telling three companions she was going swimming.

Dragging operations were conducted by the Berrien sheriff marine patrol and the U.S. Coast Guard.

Mrs. Lewis lived at 638 Broadway, Benton Harbor. A companion, Mrs. Dorothy Heinrich, 44, also of 638 Broadway, told police they were boating after leaving Georgianna's bar, 655 West Main street, early Friday. Mrs. Heinrich described Mrs. Lewis as in good spirits, but she was not drunk.

They used a boat owned by Bill Boyce, 21, bartender at Georgianna's bar. Boyce jumped into the river after Mrs. Lewis and grappled with her, but she wrestled, went under and did not surface.

Frank N. Klutts, 38, of Stevensville, who was also in the boat, told St. Joseph police that Boyce dived under water. When he returned to the surface, there was panic in his voice, Klutts said.

"My God, I can't find her!" Boyce cried. He swam to shore for help.

SJ High Still Needs 2 Teachers

Supt. Richard Ziehmer said today St. Joseph High school needs a mathematics teacher and industrial arts teacher with school to open in less than two weeks.

The opening in the mathematics department occurred when James A. Heathcote, a 17-year veteran in the department, was appointed principal. The industrial arts opening was disclosed on the late resignation of a newly-hired teacher.

Ziehmer said the schools need part-time workers for supervision about six hours a week at Lincoln or Jefferson schools.

Ziehmer has often said he obtains good leads on teachers in the area through local media. Interested persons could call Ziehmer at 983-3978.

Band Going To Camp

Camp Friedenswald at Shavehead Lake near Cassopolis will be the destination of 90 members of the Lakeshore high school band Sunday through Friday next week. Accompanying the band will be Arnold Lesser, Lakeshore band director, and David Searfoss, student teacher from Michigan State university. Searfoss is a graduate of Lakeshore high school.

Lesser said the primary purpose of the marching band camp is to get the members in shape for the football season both physically and musically. They will march and play for six hours a day under the supervision of Lesser and Searfoss. Parents are invited to visit the camp on Wednesday, August 28, after 6:30 p.m. to view a talent show and rehearsal of the first show which will be carried out at the first football game with St. Joseph high school on Sept. 13.

AROUND OUR TOWNS Assist U of M Lab In Mollusca Studies

Philip T. Lo Verde, son of Dr. and Mrs. P. J. Lo Verde of Timberlane drive in St. Joseph, has been named a graduate assistant to the Molluscan division of the University of Michigan's department of zoology. The molluscan division studies shellfish and water conditions.

Lo Verde recently was seen in a film on "swimmers itch" research presented on Michigan Outdoors TV show. It is one of the fields of water pollution in which he is working.

Lo Verde received his bachelor of science degree in zoology from the university in April and will continue study for a master of science degree. He and his wife, the former Marietta Lombardo, and their one-year-old son are living in Ann Arbor.

Ralph J. Whittinger, a certified public accountant operating a large firm under his own name at Muncie, Ind., for many years, has received an honorary doctor of law degree from his alma mater, Ball State university.

Whittinger is well known in Twin City business circles as a financial consultant and tax adviser to several firms and individuals in this area. Among other Twin City activities, he served for many years as a director in Benton Harbor Malleable Industries.

He received a bachelor's degree in accounting in the late 1920s when his school was still known as Ball State Teachers college.

Whittinger has been an ardent Ball State alumnus ever since. Currently he is a trustee in the university and in the past decade has been a substantial donor to the school and headed up several financial campaigns at Muncie which have brought in several million dollars for the campus.

Claudius Wilbert Smith, Jr., 37, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Smith of Benton Harbor, recently was promoted to general superintendent of the Elmco Company's foundry division in Salt Lake City, according to the elder Smith, Benton Harbor public works superintendent.

The younger Smith, a 15-year employee of Superior Steel Castings Co. of Benton Harbor, and his family moved to Salt Lake City a year ago.

Elmco has plants throughout the country, according to the elder Smith. Metal castings for mining are built at Salt Lake City.

The younger Smith is a 1949 honors graduate of Benton Harbor high school, received a scholarship and attended the University of Michigan 2½ years before joining Superior Steel as a metallurgist and castings designer. His wife is the former Patricia Lister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lister of Fairplain.

Mercury May Hit 90 Today

Water Consumption Way Up, So Is Beach Use

The chance of thunderstorms late Saturday gives some reason for optimism that southwestern Michigan may be in for a cooling trend late this evening and Sunday.

Predictions are for a high in the low 90's again today, making it the sixth consecutive day of 90 plus readings. Yesterday the mercury hit 92, which tied with Wednesday's reading for the week's hottest.

If the showers forecast for this afternoon and tonight do occur temperatures should be lower and less humid condition should prevail on Sunday and Monday.

HAS BEEN WORSE
The week's sweltering blasts began on Monday and have continued throughout the week. For some consolation, in a comparable period of 1947 the temperatures ranged at or near the 100 mark. Last year at this time high readings were in the 60's and 70's.

In Benton Harbor the water consumption has been quite heavy, running about six to seven million gallons per day. However, there are no shortages and no lack of water is seen in the near future.

Area beach usage has been considerably heavy over the past week, although Friday's crowds at Jean Klock park were not as heavy as the day before. The run on fans and air conditioners at area stores has not abated. The Benton Harbor K-Mart department store reports that it sold 220 fans Friday and that the store is presently all sold out.

Heat prostration did not present a severe problem at area hospitals during the past week, as Mercy hospital reported that the number of cases was about normal for this time of the year and that the higher temperatures did not bring in any unusual amount of calls.

Lake Michigan was nearly steaming with a temperature of 80 this morning.

BH Calls Renewal Hearing

It Means New Start For Program

A public hearing will be held on Benton Harbor's urban renewal project at Monday night's city commission meeting.

Legally, the hearing means that the city is starting all over in defining its urban renewal project that was initiated several years ago. But in effect, the hearing is only a required procedure to comply with a court decision and recent state legislation.

Urban Renewal Director Leslie Cripps said financing of the project could be jeopardized if the city doesn't go through the legal steps of redefining the project area and acting to establish a citizens district council as an advisory group. The boundaries of the Benton Harbor project and its purposes will not be changed.

A Supreme court decision this year held that urban renewal projects established by resolution of city councils were invalid. The State Legislature then passed corrective legislation which requires cities with urban renewal projects to hold hearings and pass new resolutions.

Fruit Men Turning Thoughts To Frost

Frost control heating systems were the main topics of discussion last night at the summer kickoff meeting of the National Dwarf Tree association, held at the Holiday Inn, Benton Harbor.

Frank Owens of Hilltop Orchards, Hartford, gave a slide presentation on the propane gas heating system that was used last spring at the Hilltop Orchards.

"The propane gas system was built at Hilltop with the idea of having a system which would get the job done in the most economical way possible," Owens said.

SMUDGE POTS INEFFICIENT
The various types of heating systems which are being developed across the country are an attempt to do away with the conventional and inefficient oil-filled smudge pots that are used to prevent frost damage to fruit crops.

At Hilltop, two 1,000 gallon propane gas tanks were set up in the apple orchard, with the main gas line running from the tanks. From this main line many lateral lines were laid throughout the orchard.

Off of these lateral lines metal pipes (similar to stove pipes) were laid a few inches off the ground. A barrier switch near the end of each "stove pipe" is lit sending the flames into each "stove pipe", which in turn radiates the heat.

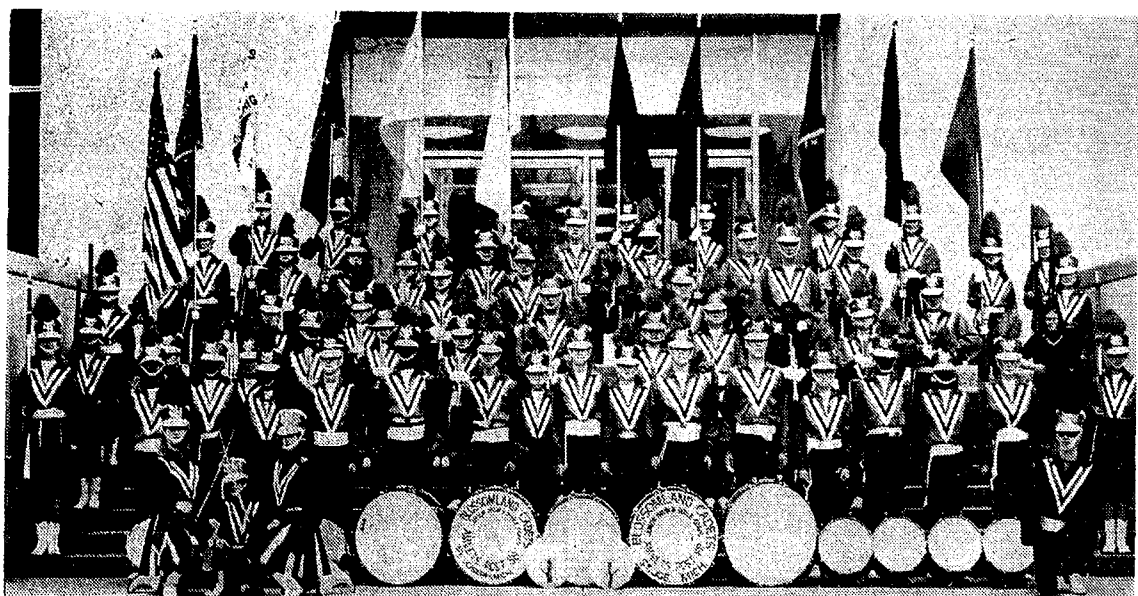

An open discussion session followed which gave those in attendance a chance to ask questions and explain other types of non-conventional heating systems that are being tested throughout the country.

Owens explained that the Owens explained that the experiment conducted at Hilltop, outside of a few mechanical mistakes that were found was a success and saved a large portion of their apple crop, which would have been lost due to the May 5th freeze.

Only 25 persons attended the meeting last night, but a lot more were expected for the tour portion of the association's summer program which was held today.

Orchards seen today besides those at the Hilltop farm, were the Dave Friday farm, south of Hartford, and the Herbert Teichman farm east of Eau Claire.

UCF Fruit Auction Sunday

CADETS TO PLAY AT UCF AUCTION: The Blossomland Cadets Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, shown here, will play tomorrow at the United Community Fund public auction of donated produce, to be held at the Benton Harbor fruit market at 1:30 p.m. The Cadets, winners of many awards in drum and bugle competition, are expected to perform just before the start of the auction. All proceeds from Sunday's auction will go to UCF.

When United Community Fund holds its annual public auction of donated produce tomorrow at the Benton Harbor fruit market, one of the highlights will be a special appearance by the Blossomland Cadets Junior Drum and Bugle Corps.

A 45-member group of the Cadets, who range in age from 11 to 21, will perform just before the start of the 1:30 p.m. auction.

The Cadets have won many trophies in competition since they were organized in 1965, the most recent being top laurels last Sunday at the annual Hart City Festival Parade in Elkhart, Ind. They also have won two Amvets State Championship parade awards and took first place among drum-and-bugle corps in the Fourth of July parade in LaPorte, Ind., in 1967.

Also featured is an all-girl color guard that won sixth place in a field of 12 in state championship color guard competition at the American Legion state convention in Lansing last month.

The Blossomland Cadets are sponsored by George E. Jones Amvet Post 88, St. Joseph and are co-sponsored by American Legion Post 163, St. Joseph, and VFW Post 1137, Benton Harbor. Manager is Dean De May and the musical director is Ted Sing.

At tomorrow's auction, auctioneer John Glassman, of Eau Claire, will preside over a sale of fruit and vegetables donated by area growers. In previous years, prices at the UCF auction have often been below wholesale levels.

All proceeds from tomorrow's auction will go to the Commercial division of UCF. Chairman of the market campaign is Al Knittel, assistant manager of the city market. Members of his committee are Kenneth Slater, Mrs. Lena Bertucca, Mrs. Marian Esalhorst and Mrs. Anne Klahm.

Miss Blossomland and two members of her court also will appear at the auction. Miss Blossomland is Eileen Hlyn, of Bridgman. She will be joined by Nancy Baines, Miss St. Joseph, and Sue Naylor, Miss Benton Harbor.

Hospital's Emergency Setup Is Successful

Benton Harbor Mercy Hospital administrator, C. T. Loftus, has termed the hospital's expanded emergency room service "an immediate success."

Loftus said that July, the first month of the service, showed a 45 per cent increase in the number of emergency visits to the hospital over last July.

There were 1,839 visits to the hospital emergency room this July as compared with 1,261 last July. Loftus said he predicts August will see nearly 2,000 emergency visits.

"This substantial increase in the number of patients seen in our emergency room demonstrates the need for the expanded service as well as the efficiency with which this large number of patients has been handled by the physicians," Loftus said.

AROUND THE CLOCK
Beginning July 1, the hospital's emergency room has been manned on an around-the-clock basis, seven days a week, by doctors from the medical staff belonging to the Twin City Physicians Emergency Service. One doctor is on duty at all times and others are on call as needed.

The physician on duty cares for all patients admitted on an emergency basis. In the case of his own patients the doctor on duty will continue treatment after the emergency service.

The physician refers all patients who have their own regular doctor to him for further treatment as required. If an emergency patient has no regular doctor, he will be shown a list of staff and will choose one in the area of his medical needs.

School Data

Berrien Intermediate school district's data process center — so new it doesn't have a computer — got its first outside customer this month.

The Cass county Intermediate school board voted to join Berrien in computerization, starting with school payrolling in January. For the service, Cass will pay the equivalent of 0.05 of a mill on its equalized valuation, according to Berrien Intermediate Supt. Doyle Barkmeier.

Headed by director David Rhodes, 33, a Fairplain resident and former Bendix Corp. data processor, the center is located in the district's office in St. Joseph until a new $550,000 headquarters is finished near Berrien prings in April.

TIME SAVER

Plugging payroll check information on an estimated 4,000 Cass and Berrien school employees into a computer, on rented time, is expected to save uncounted man-hours over preparing checks by hand.

Barkmeier said the district will rent time on an outside computer until the load is great enough to warrant leasing equipment for the district's center.

Berrien has budgeted $35,000 — now plus the .05 mills from Cass — for data operations through July 1, 1969. Second-year costs won't be known until next March and will depend on how much data process work is done, Barkmeier said.

Other jobs might include schoolchild census-taking, class scheduling, report cards, and test scoring.

A payroll-by-computer should begin in January of 1969, Barkmeier said.

OTHERS WELCOME

While the Berrien Intermediate district isn't out recruiting new customers, it won't necessarily turn them down.

"In the future as we grow, if other districts want to come in we would give consideration to it," Barkmeier said.

He said districts on the fringe of Berrien Intermediate, such as Van Buren, may be interested in joining.

At Coloma High

COLOMA — The Coloma school district this year will offer a new English course, geared to vocational education students.

The course is part of a new high school English program, which is planned to help all students write in an intelligent manner.

James Miller, head of the district's humanities department, said the vocational English course will present technical terms, phrases and words used by various tradesmen. The course is a departure from the traditional English literature courses, which again will be taught to college preparatory and business education students.

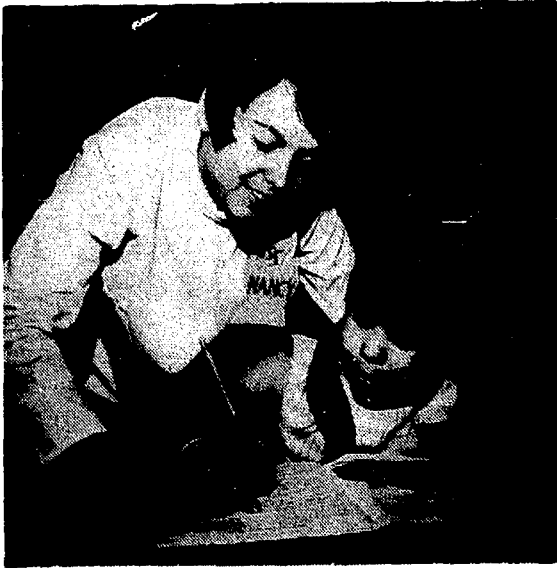

According to Miller, the traditional courses in English literature are of little interest to vocational education students.

However, he said, a composition course in basic writing should be of value to all high school students. Miller added that new English books are to be used this year in the high school. He termed this a saving to parents, because only one English book will be purchased for use throughout high school.

Miller said the subject matter in the books proceeds through grades nine through twelve, and emphasized that the book should be saved as a reference book in college.

Methodist Teenagers
Helping Out In Alaska

A Hartford girl and a Niles boy are among 47 Michigan Methodist youth and their counselors who are helping mission projects in Alaska.

The youths are erecting log cabins, landscaping suburban church premises, painting faculty housing at a church related college and teaching summer children's projects in Alaska. Most projects are in the mountain areas surrounding Anchorage. One teaching project is at Sitka, 850 miles to the south in the state's "panhandle" region.

Miss Nancy Babcock, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Babcock of Hartford, is among the young people providing leadership for a day camp program for 100 children in downtown Sitka.

Dean Brozo of Niles is working at the Birchwood Methodist Camp, located in a forest area, 20 miles from Anchorage. The group at the Birchwood camp has already erected two cabins to serve children and youths from as far away as Nome in a year around camp and retreat center. They are now preparing to erect a third cabin.

Miss Babcock is working at the day camp in Sitka that serves mostly children from Tlingit Indian families. The camp is held at Alaska Native Brotherhood. The group in Sitka will also do interior painting and finishing work in the classroom area of the recently built first unit of the First Methodist church in Sitka.

Miss Babcock was graduated from Hartford high school in June. She plans to continue her education at Southwestern Michigan college.

She will return on Aug. 27 and then directly to the Methodist Youth Assembly which will be held at Lake Louise at Boyne Falls, Mich. She has been a member of the Michigan conference for the past two years and serves as faith chairman.

If you haven't baked a cake lately, now is the time to do it. Time is running out, and the Morris Kozen Kidney foundation needs 600,000 General Mills coupons to help purchase a kidney machine.

The Bell Telephone Pioneers of Benton Harbor district of the Wolverine chapter are making a last effort to collect Betty Crocker top tops and coupons and must have the coupons by Sept. 12. The coupons will enable the kidney foundation to receive $3,000 for the machine.

The machine will be used throughout Southwestern Michigan and will save Charles Schrader of New Buffalo, a kidney victim, from making a 132-mile round trip twice weekly to the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago for dialysis treatment.

Coupons in this area should be sent to either Mrs. Dean Myers of route 3, Box 300, Benton Harbor, or to Mrs. Ann Patterson of 1337 Bishop avenue, Benton Harbor. Schrader's wife is a former telephone operator.

while those with a master's degree ranged from $6,300 to $8,550, also in 11 steps.

The new contract also calls for the district to pay up to $120 a year for the teacher health insurance program.

Harding also announced that registration of all students will be handled Monday in the elementary and high school offices. Registration hours are from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p.m.

Church-State Split

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Catholic and Seventh-day Adventist educators compared notes here as the Rev. C. Albert Koob, executive secretary of the National Catholic Educational Association, addressed Adventist college and university administrators.

The educators found they had much in common. First of all, the common concern for an educational system that instills in students Christian principles of living rather than pure knowledge.

To this concern Dr. Koob added the need for separation of church and state. The executive secretary said, "My firm conviction that we need special schools to teach Christian values rests on the equally firm conviction that America needs every protection to keep the church and the state from getting into each other's way."

Dr. Koob, however, paid tribute to the public school system, which, he said "cannot indoctrinate children in a given faith."

The Catholic educator expressed his firm belief that "the total school situation is the best way to attain true Christian formation. I am taking into consideration, under this heading," he said, "the fact that many values are transferred by teachers who cover secular subjects. Contact with dedicated and respected human beings who are acknowledged leaders and informed intellectual people of the highest caliber means a great deal in the value of judgments that our students will form. They will select from what they observe and admire in others."

THE ROAD AHEAD

Looking to the future, the speaker expressed the opinion that the Catholic church will "run a highly professional and rather efficient school system that will cover all levels of education. It will be quite different from the parochial kind of system that we have run in the past," he said. "In all probability it will not involve as many children as we would like."

Dr. Koob indicated that the future would demand greater coordination of educational facilities and staffs in order to meet educational demands most economically. He pointed to the cooperation currently in action in Washington, D.C., area, where five universities, including Georgetown and Catholic University, are cooperating rather than duplicating courses in certain graduate areas. he felt, would set a pattern for the future.

Another speaker at the council was Dr. David L. McKenna, president of Seattle Pacific college, who described his school as "a successful experiment in creative poverty."

He acknowledged the financial crisis facing all colleges and universities, even the large ones such as Harvard, Princeton and Yale.

"The financial crisis is real," Dr. McKenna said, "the competition is fierce, and many colleges will die or simply exist among the 'walking dead.' For others, however, the future represents an unusual opportunity to play a continuing and complementary role in American higher education."

The president based his statement on the current trend of higher education to secularize, depersonalize and become more fragmented.

"MORAL DWARFS" — "While I am in favor of protecting the objectivity required for scientific discovery," he said, "the tendency to neutralize its implications could produce technical giants and moral dwarfs."

The speakers addressed presidents, board chairmen, and academic deans of 14 Seventh-day Adventist colleges and universities from across the U.S. and Canada. The educators are part of nearly 1,000 administrators and faculty of Adventist higher educational institutions meeting in council on the campus of Andrews University.

The council, which opened Aug. 20, continues through Tuesday. It is the largest educational council the Adventist denomination has ever held.

A Benton township man pleaded innocent and demanded trial on a dog cruelty charge in an arraignment Friday before Benton Township Justice of the Peace Chester Jolley, Jr.

Cary Hereford, 27, of 1625 Highland avenue, did not immediately post $100 bond and was remanded to jail. The trial date was not set.

Hereford is accused of beating his mother's mixed German shepherd dog with an axe Monday while it was chained to a tree in Hereford's front lawn. The complainant was Berrien Dog Warden Abbott E. Taylor.

Hereford told police he entered the driveway about 3:30 a.m., was bitten by the dog and went into the house for an axe. Police said Hereford suffered a bitten finger and that the dog later was destroyed.

It suffered a mangled leg and lacerations of the back and head, police said.

Case Touched
Off Evictions

LANSING (A.P.) — Gov. George Romney Friday announced an agreement has been reached with the Michigan Nursing Home Association over state reimbursements to the homes for the care of public patients.

Some homes, particularly in the Wayne County area, have discharged elderly, state-supported patients to general hospitals, apparently as a result of the payment disagreement.

Eviction of the patients followed a July 18 decision in Berrien county circuit court that went against the nursing homes.

NEW RATES

The nursing homes had attempted in their suit to obtain an injunction to stop the state from paying $11 and $14 a day rates. Old rates of $10, $12 and $16 a day, depending on the patient's condition, were replaced by the state on July 1.

The court case here was presided over by Wayne Circuit Judge Nathan J. Kaufman and it produced a huge battery of attorneys for both sides, including those representing Michigan Attorney Frank Kelley's office who succeeded in having the nursing home's suit tossed out.

The agreement "is one which the state and the nursing home industry can live with for now and one which should eliminate any further personal hardship upon the thousands of public patients throughout Michigan," the governor said.

The agreement calls for daily rates of $12 and $14 per patient, depending on the type of care, retroactive to July 1, the governor said. The state first had proposed $11 and $14.

Romney said resolution of the rate scale is accompanied by an understanding that the nursing homes will submit cost figures to the state and will accept a state audit of their books to verify the cost figures.

Forms will be mailed to nursing homes, Romney said, and if any home fails to complete and return the form within 30 days, state payment will be withheld and reduced to the $11 rate originally proposed for the full fiscal year period.

Romney added that he will appoint a study committee of the state, industry and public representatives to review state reimbursement plans for nursing care.

Nursing homes will not discharge patients other than in the normal course of operations while the committee is at work, the governor said.

In addition, the agreement calls for the state and the nursing homes to comply with all state and federal requirements, including civil rights provisions.

Two Ex-Area
Troopers Are Reassigned

Two state police officers, formerly stationed at the South Haven post, have been assigned to command positions at the East Lansing post, according to Col. Fredrick E. Davis, directors of the Michigan State Police department.

Cpl. Carl W. Hulander is being promoted to sergeant and transferred from Ionia. He served two years at South Haven before being promoted to corporal and assigned to Ionia in 1963.

Cpl. Richard Kill is being transferred from Pontiac to the East Lansing post. He served three years at the South Haven post before he was promoted to corporal and assigned to Pontiac in 1966. Both transfers are effective Sept. 1.

The two are among eight state police officers promoted and 30 others transferred. Most of the assignments are involved in the establishment of a capitol complex security operation in Lansing, Col. Davis said. As previously reported, this will be a sub-post of the East Lansing post and part of the department's first district.

Hearings On Migrants Are Slated

Civil Rights Parley At Grand Valley

Nearly 300 migrant laborers and ex-migrants are expected to be in attendance at public hearings on the problems of migratory farm labor, which will be conducted by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, August 25-26 at Grand Valley State College near Grand Rapids.

The MCRC is conducting the two-day hearing to become more knowledgeable about the problems suffered by the migrant population in Michigan, 85 percent of which is composed of Spanish-speaking people and Negroes.

Farm laborers from throughout the state as well as permanent residents who are concerned about the welfare of migrant workers will give testimony on the living and working conditions of the migrant laborer at Sunday's session.

They will come from such cities as Benton Harbor, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Saginaw, Erie, and Claire. Interpreters will be present to provide simultaneous English translation if needed.

Monday's session will feature testimony primarily from representatives of public agencies and private groups involved in migrant programs. John Scherer of the Southwestern Michigan Farm Labor Co-operative will be one of the speakers. Each day's sessions will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Burglars Preparing For Safe Job?

Benton Harbor police said a break-in at Ferguson Welding Supply, 275 Ninth street, could be preparation for bigger things.

H.W. Ferguson reported yesterday morning that a welding outfit, including two acetylene and two oxygen tanks were stolen. Police speculated they might be used in a safe cracking.

Georgianna Enders, owner of Georgianna's bar, 635 West Main street, reported yesterday morning that about $100 had been taken from coin-operated machines, following a break-in.

Friend Is Trying To Make 'Killing' On Utility Bonds

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. — A friend is buying recent utility bond issues paying 7 per cent interest. He claims he'll double his money when interest rates go down.

A. — There are only two fallacies in his thinking:
1. — Interest rates would have to drop to 3 1/2 per cent before a bond carrying a 7 per cent coupon could double in price. I don't think you ought to hold your breath until money rates fall to 3 1/2 per cent.

2. — If interest rates should drop any substantial amount — and I don't mean to anywhere near the 3 1/2 per cent level — you'll see a flood of bond refundings.

Your friend seems to forget that most bonds carry redemption provisions giving the issuing corporation the privilege of calling in the bonds long before maturity — in many cases only five or ten years after they were originally sold. So if money rates begin to slide, these 7 per cent bond issues will be called in as soon as their noncallable period — if any — terminates. No corporation in its right mind is going to continue paying 7 per cent for money if it can get it for, say, 6 or 5, let alone 3 1/2. And if your 7 per cent bond is going to be taken away from you for 100 cents on the dollar, let's say, four years, you're not likely to pay 200 cents on the dollar for it today no matter how far its current yield is above the going rate for money.

Having said this much to correct loose talk about bonds, I think it only fair to say that if you are interested in generous current income, and if a fixed return (and, therefore, lack of inflation protection) doesn't upset you, you may well consider some of the good quality bonds recently issued with coupons of 6 1/2, 7 per cent. In recent months, interest rates have shown some signs of easing and these bond prices have risen, decreasing their yields to around 8 1/2 per cent or so. But that's still nothing to sneer at — if generous, though fixed, income is what you want.

MEANS ANNUITY
Q. — I read in a recent column that you suggested a retired person could get a generous income from an insurance investment. I'd like to invest some money in an insurance company, too. How?

A. — I was not referring to investing in an insurance company. I was talking about an annuity. An annuity is a contract — generally for your lifetime, although it could run even longer if you don't live a stated number of years. It is not an investment. You are not buying shares in an insurance company. It is an agreement which says that for X thousands of dollars paid in you will receive Y dollars a month — or a year — for the rest of your life. The amount you receive depends upon whether you are a man or woman, upon the age at which you want to begin receiving benefits, and upon whether you want a certain number of years' payments guaranteed, whether you live to collect them or not. I'm sending you a fact sheet on annuities.

State Economy Grows Faster Than Average

LANSING (AP) — Michigan enjoyed an income growth well above the average for the nation during the first quarter of the year, the State Office of Economic Expansion reports.

Personal income in Michigan was 4.8 per cent higher during the first quarter of the year than during the fourth quarter of 1967. The U. S. average gain was 2.5 per cent.

The income gain over the same quarter of last year was 10 per cent. This compared with a 7.4 per cent national average.

The office termed the gains "most impressive" compared with the plateau periods of 1967.

The report qualified the enthusiasm by saying that the recent federal surtax as well as other actions designed to "cool off" the national economy can be expected to hit Michigan as well as the rest of the country.

All indicators, otherwise, pointed to a favorable growth year for the state's economy.

Michigan's 10 per cent income gain in the year was above gains of neighboring states. These included: Ohio, up 7.7 per cent; Indiana, up 6.3 per cent; Illinois, up 6.3 per cent; and Wisconsin, up 6.8 per cent.

The personal income rise was attributed mostly because the average hourly wage rates and number of hours worked were greater than last year.

Auto and steel firms led the Michigan industries recovering from the plateau of the early part of last year.

U. S. automobile sales were reported rising 1 million units above the same period last year.

Heat Wave Holds Key At Market

Volume and quality of produce next week on the Benton Harbor fruit market will depend largely on whether recent hot, humid weather here ends, according to market manager Ken Slater.

"Tomato volume is expected to start tapering off, but the change will be a drastic one instead of a gradual one if the intense heat continues," Slater said.

The heat wave already has hurt the quality of some commodities, especially tomatoes, peaches, and apples. Quality can be expected to be hurt even more next week if hot weather doesn't end, Slater said.

The market was closed today for the regular weekend holiday, but will reopen Sunday.

Job Or School, Judge Orders

Michael Shearman, 17, of Niles, was ordered to get a job or go back to school during his two-year probation sentence Friday before Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns.

Shearman, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of driving away in a car in Niles on June 29, also was ordered to pay fine and costs of $122, not drive uninsured cars, and not get married without approval from probation authorities.

Default Judgment Granted

Judge Also Issues Restraining Order

A default judgment of $4,100 plus $48.75 costs against a Holland man was granted Friday by Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns.

The plaintiff, Ad-Co Die Cast Corp. of Bridgman, claimed $21,100 damages against Donald A. Essenburg for an allegedly defective buffing machine, it bought from Essenburg last year. Essenburg failed to answer the suit.

Ad-Co's claim included $17,000 for buffing it said it had to "job out." The company was represented by Bridgman Atty. William Lagoni.

Also Friday, Judge Byrns granted a temporary restraining order to prevent Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wells from denying access of their land to an oil pipeline company making a survey in Bertrand township.

The Lakehead Pipe Line Co. of Baltimore, Md., claimed through St. Joseph Atty. Joseph Kilian that the Wells ejected company agents from the land this week despite an entry authorization granted by Berrien Probate Judge Ronald Lange.

The company said in the suit it plans to build a pipeline entering Michigan near Niles and ending in St. Clair county.

In other suits filed recently:

A Niles township couple, John and Estella Witherspoon, seek $36,025 damages from two Detroit firms in a 1964 aluminum siding and loan agreement.

Defendants are Compac Construction & Investment Co., C&J Investments and five persons. The second firm threatens to foreclose the Witherspoons mortgage, the couple claims.

NRM Corp. of Akron, Ohio, claims $12,541.06 plus interest from Universal Loozeleaf Corp., Benton township, for goods sold to Universal since 1966 and allegedly not paid for.

A Chicagoan, Norman Huff, claims $20,000 from Walter and Bernice Ratter of Benton Harbor for injuries Huff's son, James, allegedly suffered in a two-car crash on 1-94 near Benton Harbor on March 26, 1967.

William F. Weaver of South Bend claims $10,000 for injuries he allegedly suffered in a two-car collision in Niles township on Aug. 18, 1967, involving Weaver's car and one driven by Donald M. Shaber of Niles township.

OLD FOLKS CAN RETURN TO NURSING HOMES

Cass Joins Computer Service

Berrien System Will Figure School Data

Berrien Intermediate school district's data process center — so new it doesn't have a computer — got its first outside customer this month.

The Cass county Intermediate school board voted to join Berrien in computerization, starting with school payroll in January. For the service, Cass will pay the equivalent of 0.05 of a mill on its equalized valuation, according to Berrien Intermediate Supt. Doyle Barkmeier.

Headed by director David Rhodes, 33, a Fairplain resident and former Bendix Corp. data processor, the center is located in the district's office in St. Joseph until a new $560,000 headquarters is finished near Berrien prings in April.

TIME SAVER

Plugging payroll check information on an estimated 4,000 Cass and Berrien school employees into a computer, on rented time, is expected to save uncounted man-hours over preparing checks by hand.

Barkmeier said the district will rent time on an outside computer until the load is great enough to warrant leasing equipment for the district's center.

Berrien has budgeted $35,000 — now plus the .05 mills from Cass — for data operations through July 1, 1969. Second-year costs won't be known until next March and will depend on how much data process work is done, Barkmeier said.

Other jobs might include schoolchild census-taking, class scheduling, report cards, and test scoring.

A payroll-by-computer should begin in January of 1969, Barkmeier said.

OTHERS WELCOME

While the Berrien Intermediate district isn't out recruiting more customers, it won't necessarily turn them down.

"In the future as we grow, if other districts want to come in we would give consideration to it," Barkmeier said.

He said districts on the fringe of Berrien Intermediate, such as Van Buren, may be interested in joining.

Technical English Is Offered

Vo-Ed Course At Coloma High

COLOMA — The Coloma school district this year will offer a new English course, geared to vocational education students.

The course is part of a new high school English program, which is planned to help all students write in an intelligent manner.

James Miller, head of the district's humanities department, said the vocational English course will present technical terms, phrases and words used by various tradesmen. The course is a departure from the traditional English literature courses, which again will be taught to college preparatory and business education students.

According to Miller, the traditional courses in English literature are of little interest to vocational education students.

However, he said, a composition course in basic writing should be of value to all high school students. Miller added that new English books are to be used this year in the high school. He termed this a saving to parents, because only one English book will be purchased for use throughout high school.

Miller said the subject matter in the books proceeds through grades nine through twelve, and emphasized that the book should be saved as a reference book in college.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

GLENN — Mrs. Stan Sharp of Glenn underwent major surgery this week at the Rochester Methodist hospital at Rochester, Minn. She will remain hospitalized for two more weeks.

ALASKAN VOLUNTEER: Miss Nancy Babcock of Hartford works with Tingit Indian girl in day camp at Sitka, Alaska. Miss Babcock is one of 47 Methodist youths from Michigan spending the month of August working as volunteers on several church related projects in Alaska.

Methodist Teenagers Helping Out In Alaska

A Hartford girl and a Niles boy are among 47 Michigan Methodist youth and their counselors who are helping mission projects in Alaska.

The youths are erecting log cabins, landscaping suburban church premises, painting faculty housing at a church related college and teaching summer children's projects in Alaska. Most projects are in the mountain areas surrounding Anchorage. One teaching project is at Sitka, 850 miles to the south in the state's "panhandle" region.

Miss Nancy Babcock, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Babcock of Hartford, is among the young people providing leadership for a day camp program for 100 children in downtown Sitka.

Dean Brozo of Niles is working at the Birchwood Methodist Camp, located in a forest area, 20 miles from Anchorage. The group at the Birchwood camp has already erected two cabins to serve children and youths from as far away as Nome in a year around camp and retreat center. They are now preparing to erect a third cabin.

Miss Babcock is working at the day camp in Sitka that serves mostly children from Tingit Indian families. The camp is held at Alaska Native Brotherhood. The group in Sitka will also do interior painting and finishing work in the classroom area of the recently built first unit of the First Methodist church in Sitka.

Miss Babcock was graduated from Hartford high school in June. She plans to continue her education at Southwestern Michigan college.

She will return on Aug. 27 and then directly to the Methodist Youth Assembly which will be held at Lake Louise at Boyne Falls, Mich. She has been a member of the Michigan conference for the past two years and serves as faith chairman.

Bake Cake And Help Sick Man

Coupons Needed To Buy Machine

If you haven't baked a cake lately, now is the time to do it. Time is running out, and the Morris Kozen Kidney foundation needs 600,000 General Mills coupons to help purchase a kidney machine.

The Bell Telephone Pioneers of Benton Harbor district of the Wolverine chapter are making a last effort to collect Betty Crocker tox tops and coupons and must have the coupons by Sept. 12. The coupons will enable the kidney foundation to receive $3,000 for the machine.

The machine will be used throughout Southwestern Michigan and will save Charles Schrader of New Buffalo, a kidney victim, from making a 132-mile round trip twice weekly to the Michael Reese hospital in Chicago for dialysis treatment.

Coupons in this area should be sent to either Mrs. Dean Myers of route 3, Box 300, Benton Harbor, or to Mrs. Ann Patterson of 1337 Bishop avenue, Benton Harbor. Schrader's wife is a former telephone operator.

Lawrence Teachers Get Salary Increases

LAWRENCE — Teachers in the Lawrence school district have accepted 1968-69 contracts calling for salary increases, Superintendent Wesley Harding announced Friday.

Teachers with a bachelor's degree will start at $6,400 and move to $9,150 with 12 years experience, while those with a master's degree range from $6,900 to $10,200 in 12 years.

Last year, teachers with a bachelor's degree ranged from $5,900 to $8,150 in 11 steps,

Catholic And Adventist Education Aims Similar

Andrews U. Is Site Of Conference

Agree On Need For Church-State Split

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Catholic and Seventh-day Adventist educators compared notes here as the Rev. C. Albert Koob, executive secretary of the National Catholic Educational Association, addressed Adventist college and university administrators.

The educators found they had much in common. First of all, the common concern for an educational system that instills in students Christian principles of living rather than pure knowledge.

To this concern Dr. Koob added the need for separation of church and state. The executive secretary said, "My firm conviction that we need special schools to teach Christian values rests on the equally firm conviction that America needs every protection to keep the church and the state from getting into each other's way."

Dr. Koob, however, paid tribute to the public school system, which, he said, "cannot indoctrinate children in a given faith."

The Catholic educator expressed his firm belief that "the total school situation is the best way to attain true Christian formation. I am taking into consideration, under this heading," he said, "the fact that many values are transferred by teachers who cover secular subjects. Contact with dedicated and respected human beings who are acknowledged leaders and informed intellectual people of the highest caliber means a great deal in the value of judgments that our students will form. They will select from what they observe and admire in others."

Looking to the future, the speaker expressed the opinion that the Catholic church will "run a highly professional and rather efficient school system that will cover all levels of education. It will be quite different from the parochial kind of system that we have run in the past," he said. "In all probability it will not involve as many children as we would like."

Dr. Koob indicated that the future would demand greater coordination of educational facilities and staffs in order to meet educational demands most economically. He pointed to the cooperation currently in action in Washington, D.C., area, where five universities, including Georgetown and Catholic University, are cooperating rather than duplicating courses in certain graduate areas, he felt, would set a pattern for the future.

Another speaker at the council was Dr. David L. McKenna, president of Seattle Pacific college, who described his school as "a successful experiment in creative poverty."

He acknowledged the financial crisis facing all colleges and universities, even the large ones such as Harvard, Princeton and Yale.

"The financial crisis is real," Dr. McKenna said, "the competition is fierce, and many colleges will die or simply exist among the 'walking dead.' For others, however, the future represents an unusual opportunity to play a continuing and complementary role in American higher education."

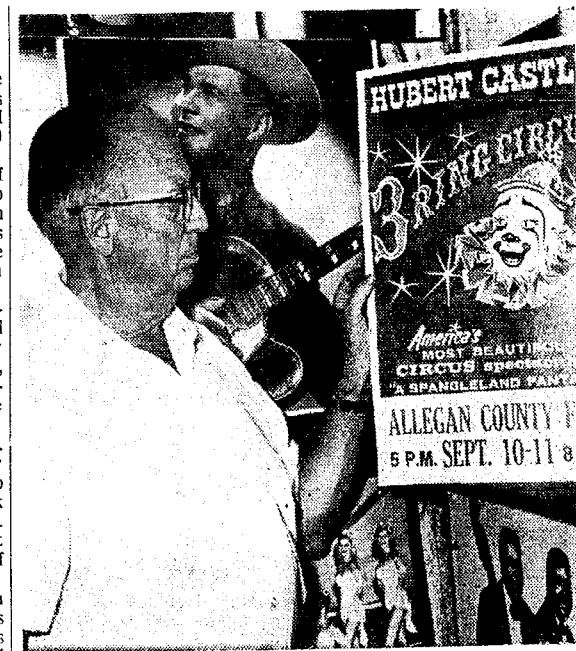

The president based his statement on the current trend of higher education to secularize, depersonalize and become more fragmented.

'MORAL DWARFS'

"While I am in favor of protecting the objectivity required for scientific discovery," he said, "the tendency to neutralize its implications could produce technical giants and moral dwarfs."

The speakers addressed presidents, board chairmen, and academic deans of 14 Seventh-day Adventist colleges and universities from across the U.S. and Canada. The educators are part of nearly 1,000 administrators and faculty of Adventist higher educational institutions meeting in council on the campus of Andrews University.

The council, which opened Aug. 20, continues through Tuesday. It is the largest educational council the Adventist denomination has ever held.

ALAGAN'S FAIR BUFF: Clair McOmber, retired Alagan postmaster and fulltime volunteer at Alagan County fair, checks fair poster in his cubbyhole office under fair grandstand.

been spent on the improvements this year under McOmber's supervision. But his contribution to the work has been much more than "supervisory." He painted, hammered and planted right along with the rest of the seven-man ground crew.

McOmber has been a member of the fair's board of directors for 20 years and a vice president for the past five, but his involvement in the annual event dates back more than 40 years. In fact, he "married into the fair." His wife's father, the late Franz Leisler, served as secretary from 1925 to 1927 and his young son-in-law was recruited to help out in a variety of jobs, including children's day chairman.

FAIR GRANDSTAND

In recent years, McOmber's interests have centered more and more on the grandstand. Fair week finds him directing virtually all aspects of grandstand operations from a tiny cubby-hole "office" beneath the stands, the walls of which are covered with photos of the big-name entertainers who have been featured at the fair in recent years.

It is here — in front of the grandstand — that the biggest change in county fairs is most evident. McOmber recalls the "old days" when the emphasis was on elaborate scenery and long lines of flashily-clad chorus girls. Scenery arrived on railroad cars and it took days to set it up. Today's shows use simpler backgrounds and the emphasis is on talent. Instead of presenting a single, elaborately-staged review, the fair offers five completely different shows. This year's lineup will range from a special teen-night show — Saturday, Sept. 7 — featuring the Royal Guardsmen, to the Anita Bryant show, Friday and Saturday nights.

Charged With Dog Cruelty

Benton Man Pleads Innocent

A Benton township man pleaded innocent and demanded trial on a dog cruelty charge in an arraignment Friday before Benton Township Justice of the Peace Chester Jolley, Jr.

Cary Hereford, 27, of 1625 Highland avenue, did not immediately post $100 bond and was remanded to jail. The trial date was not set.

Hereford is accused of beating his mother's mixed German shepherd dog with an axe Monday while it was chained to a tree in Hereford's front lawn. The complainant was Berrien Dog Warden Abbott E. Taylor.

Hereford told police he entered the driveway about 3:30 a.m., was bitten by the dog and went into the house for an axe. Police said Hereford suffered a bitten finger and that the dog later was destroyed.

It suffered a mangled leg and lacerations of the back and head, police said.

Dispute Over Pay Settled

Berrien Court Case Touched Off Evictions

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney Friday announced an agreement has been reached with the Michigan Nursing Home Association over state reimbursements to the homes for the care of public patients.

Some homes, particularly in the Wayne County area, have discharged elderly, state-supported patients to general hospitals, apparently as a result of the payment disagreement.

Eviction of the patients followed a July 18 decision in Berrien county circuit court that went against the nursing homes.

NEW RATES

The nursing homes had attempted in their suit to obtain an injunction to stop the state from paying $11 and $14 a day rates. Old rates of $10, $12 and $16 a day, depending on the patient's condition, were replaced by the state on July 1.

The court case here was presided over by Wayne Circuit Judge Nathan J. Kaufman and it produced a huge battery of attorneys for both sides, including those representing Michigan Attorney Frank Kelley's office who succeeded in having the nursing home's suit tossed out.

The agreement "is one which the state and the nursing home industry can live with for now and one which should eliminate any further personal hardship upon the thousands of public patients throughout Michigan," the governor said.

The agreement calls for daily rates of $12 and $14 per patient, depending on the type of care, retroactive to July 1, the governor said. The state first had proposed $11 and $14.

Romney said resolution of the rate scale is accomplished by an understanding that the nursing homes will submit cost figures to the state and will accept a state audit of their books to verify the cost figures.

Forms will be mailed to nursing homes, Romney said, and if any home fails to complete and return the form within 30 days, state payment will be withheld and reduced to the $11 rate originally proposed for the full fiscal year period.

Romney added that he will appoint a study committee of the state, industry and public representatives to review state reimbursement plans for nursing care.

Nursing homes will not discharge patients other than in the normal course of operations while the committee is at work, the governor said.

In addition, the agreement calls for the state and the nursing homes to comply with all state and federal requirements, including civil rights provisions.

Two Ex-Area Troopers Are Reassigned

Two state police officers, formerly stationed at the South Haven post, have been assigned to command positions at the East Lansing post, according to Col. Fredrick E. Davis, directors of the Michigan State Police department.

Cpl. Carl W. Hulander is being promoted to sergeant and transferred from Ionia. He served two years at South Haven before being promoted to corporal and assigned to Ionia in 1963.

Cpl. Richard Kill is being transferred from Pontiac to the East Lansing post. He served three years at the South Haven post before he was promoted to corporal and assigned to Pontiac in 1966. Both transfers are effective Sept. 1.

The two are among eight state police officers promoted and 30 others transferred. Most of the assignments are involved in the establishment of a capitol complex security operation in Lansing, Col. Davis said. As previously reported, this will be a sub-post of the East Lansing post and part of the department's first district.

Hearings On Migrants Are Slated

Civil Rights Parley At Grand Valley

Nearly 300 migrant laborers and ex-migrants are expected to be in attendance at public hearings on the problems of migratory farm labor, which will be conducted by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, August 25-26 at Grand Valley State College near Grand Rapids.

The MCRC is conducting the two-day hearing to become more knowledgeable about the problems suffered by the migrant population in Michigan, 85 percent of which is composed of Spanish-speaking people and Negroes.

Farm laborers from throughout the state as well as permanent residents who are concerned about the welfare of migrant workers will give testimony on the living and working conditions of the migrant laborer at Sunday's session.

They will come from such cities as Benton Harbor, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Saginaw, Erie, and Claire. Interpreters will be present to provide simultaneous English translation if needed.

Monday's session will feature testimony primarily from representatives of public agencies and private groups involved in migrant programs. John Scherer of the Southwestern Michigan Farm Labor Co-operative will be one of the speakers. Each day's sessions will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Burglars Preparing For Safe Job?

Benton Harbor police said a break-in at Ferguson Welding Supply, 275 Ninth street, could be preparation for bigger things.

H.W. Ferguson reported yesterday morning that a welding outfit, including two acetylene and two oxygen tanks were stolen. Police speculated they might be used in a safe cracking.

Georgianna Enders, owner of Main street, bar, 655 West Main street, reported yesterday morning that about $100 had been taken from coin-operated machines, following a break-in.

Friend Is Trying To Make 'Killing' On Utility Bonds

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. — A friend is buying recent utility bond issues paying 7 per cent interest. He claims he'll double his money when interest rates go down.

A. — There are only two fallacies in his thinking:
1. — Interest rates would have to drop to 3 1/2 per cent before a bond carrying a 7 per cent coupon could double in price. I don't think you ought to hold your breath until money rates fall to 3 1/2 per cent.

2. — If interest rates should drop any substantial amount — and I don't mean to anywhere near the 3 1/2 per cent level — you'll see a flood of bond refundings.

Your friend seems to forget that most bonds carry redemption provisions giving the issuing corporation the privilege of calling in the bonds long before maturity — in many cases only five or ten years after they were originally sold. So if money rates begin to slide, these 7 per cent bond issues will be called in as soon as their noncallable period — if any — terminates. No corporation in its right mind is going to continue paying 7 per cent for money if it can get it for, say, 6, or 5, let alone 3 1/2. And if your 7 per cent bond is going to be taken away from you for 100 cents on the dollar in, let's say, four years, you're not likely to pay 200 cents on the dollar for it today no matter how far its current yield is above the going rate for money.

Having said this much to correct loose talk about bonds, I think it only fair to say that if you are interested in generous current income, and if a fixed return (and, therefore, lack of inflation protection) doesn't upset you, you may well consider some of the good quality bonds recently issued with coupons of 6 1/2, 7 per cent. In recent months, interest rates have shown some signs of easing and these bond prices have risen, decreasing their yields to around 6 1/2 per cent or so. But that's still nothing to sneer at — IF generous, though fixed, income is what you want.

MEANS ANNUITY
Q. — I read in a recent column that you suggested a retired person could get a generous income from an insurance investment. I'd like to invest some money in an insurance company, too. How?

A. — I was not referring to investing in an insurance company. I was talking about an annuity. An annuity is a contract — generally for your lifetime, although it could run even longer if you don't live a stated number of years.

It is not an investment. You are not buying shares in an insurance company. It is an agreement which says that for X thousands of dollars paid in you will receive Y dollars a month — or a year — for the rest of your life. The amount you receive depends upon whether you are a man or woman, upon the age at which you want to begin receiving benefits, and upon whether you want a certain number of years' payments guaranteed, whether you live to collect them or not. I'm sending you a fact sheet on annuities.

State Economy Grows Faster Than Average

LANSING (AP) — Michigan enjoyed an income growth well above the average for the nation during the first quarter of the year, the State Office of Economic Expansion reports.

Personal income in Michigan was 4.8 per cent higher during the first quarter of the year than during the fourth quarter of 1967. The U. S. average gain was 2.5 per cent.

The income gain over the same quarter of last year was 10 per cent. This compared with a 7.4 per cent national average.

The office termed the gains "most impressive" compared with the plateau periods of 1967.

The report qualified the enthusiasm by saying that the recent federal surtax as well as other actions designed to "cool off" the national economy can be expected to hit Michigan as well as the rest of the country.

All indicators, otherwise, pointed to a favorable growth year for the state's economy.

Michigan's 10 per cent income gain in the year was above gains of neighboring states. These included: Ohio, up 7.7 per cent; Indiana, up 6.3 per cent; Illinois, up 6.3 per cent; and Wisconsin, up 6.8 per cent.

The personal income rise was attributed mostly because the average hourly wage rates and number of hours worked were greater than last year.

Auto and steel firms led the Michigan industries recovering from the plateau of the early part of last year.

U. S. automobile sales were reported running 1 million units above the same period last year.

Heat Wave Holds Key At Market

Volume and quality of produce next week on the Benton Harbor fruit market will depend largely on whether recent hot, humid weather here ends, according to market manager Ken Slater.

"Tomato volume is expected to start tapering off, but the change will be a drastic one instead of a gradual one if the intense heat continues," Slater said.

The heat wave already has hurt the quality of some commodities, especially tomatoes, peaches, and apples. Quality can be expected to be hurt even more next week if hot weather doesn't end, Slater said.

The market was closed today for the regular weekend holiday, but will reopen Sunday.

Job Or School, Judge Orders

Michael Shearman, 17, of Niles, was ordered to get a job or go back to school during his two-year probation sentence Friday before Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns.

Shearman, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of driving away in a car in Niles on June 29, also was ordered to pay fine and costs of $122, not drive uninsured cars, and not get married without approval from probation authorities.

Default Judgment Granted

Judge Also Issues Restraining Order

A default judgment of $4,100 plus $46.75 costs against a Holland man were granted Friday by Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns.

The plaintiff, Ad-Co Die Cast Corp. of Bridgman, claimed $21,100 damages against Donald A. Essenburg for an allegedly defective buffing machine it bought from Essenburg last year. Essenburg failed to answer the suit.

Ad-Co's claim included $17,000 for buffing it said it had to "job out." The company was represented by Bridgman Atty. William Lagoni.

Also Friday, Judge Byrns granted a temporary restraining order to prevent Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wells from denying access of their land to an oil pipeline company making a survey in Bertrand township.

The Lakehead Pipe Line Co. of Baltimore, Md., claimed through St. Joseph Atty. Joseph Killian that the Wells ejected company agents from the land this week despite an entry authorization granted by Berrien Probate Judge Ronald Lange.

The company said in the suit it plans to build a pipeline entering Michigan near Niles and ending in St. Clair county.

In other suits filed recently:

A Niles township couple, John and Estella Witherspoon, seek $36,025 damages from two Detroit firms in a 1964 aluminum siding and loan agreement.

Defendants are Compac Construction & Investment Co. and C&J Investments and five persons. The second firm threatens to foreclose the Witherspoons mortgage, the couple claims.

NRM Corp. of Akron, Ohio, claims $12,541.06 plus interest from Universal Looesleaf Corp., Benton township, for goods sold to Universal since 1966 and allegedly not paid for.

A Chicagoan, Norman Huff, claims $20,000 from Walter and Bernice Ratter of Benton Harbor for injuries Huff's son, James, allegedly suffered in a two-car crash on I-94 near Benton Harbor on March 26, 1967.

William F. Weaver of South Bend claims $10,000 for injuries he allegedly suffered in a two-car collision in Niles township on Aug. 18, 1967, involving Weaver's car and one driven by Donald M. Shaber of Niles township.

Also this week, a change of venue from Oakland county to Berrien was noted for an Oak Park, Mich., couple suing a railroad and the Berrien county road commission following a train-truck crash in Berrien on Nov. 23, 1965.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Frankfort, claim they were passengers on the train and seek a total of $125,000 for injuries from the road commission, New York Central railroad, and Pennsylvania-New York Central Transportation Co.

How many people get hurt when a car is stolen?

More than you think.
The thief gets hurt.
Very likely he's a teen-age kid who's never been in serious trouble before.
His parents get hurt.
A police record isn't much to be proud of.
Other people can get hurt, too.
Stolen cars are involved in 200 times more accidents.
Take your keys every time you leave your car.
That way, nobody gets hurt.

Don't help a boy go wrong. When you leave your car, take your keys.
